In Loving Memory of Brother John Crowe

Brother John Crowe led Rancho San Antonio for more than sixty years. His life's work was guiding young people to risk, change, grow. Over his decades of leadership, he offered his counsel and guidance to hundreds of young men in the San Fernando Valley from our campus in Chatsworth. While Brother John passed in January of 2025, his legacy lives on through the lives he impacted.

"So many people carry shame for what they've done or what was done to them. At Rancho, I learned the power of letting go of that shame. That changed everything for me."

A Message from the Executive Director

Dear Rancho San Antonio Community,

Community is at its best when we lift one another through our brightest and our hardest moments.

2025 began with profound sadness as we mourned the loss of Brother John Crowe, our beloved leader of more than 60 years. He led from a place of love, with love for the programs, organization, and the for the youth and families we serve. Alumni, staff, friends, family, and members of his religious community gathered at St. John Eudes Catholic Church to honor his life and his legacy.

Each milestone we reached in 2025 was deeply impactful, because we knew we were carrying on Brother's legacy, and we knew he would be proud. To honor him we hosted our inaugural gala, Legacy of Hope: A Tribute to Brother John Crowe. The event brought together alumni, long-time supporters, and new friends to celebrate the mission he championed. Together, we raised $189,000, including $50,000 dedicated to the new youth outpatient building.

Thanks to the steadfast generosity of our donors, partners and funders, Rancho continues to uphold and expand upon our mission of providing a continuum of services for youth, from residential care to diversion programs, outpatient services, and transitional apartments for young adults. Every day, we strive to fulfill the vision that guides our work - to Risk, Change, Grow.

This progress belongs to all of us. Thank you for being part of the Rancho story. In memory of Brother John, thank you for helping us not only preserve our legacy but strengthen it. Your support allows us to serve with love, and together, we carry forward a true Legacy of Hope.

With great appreciation,

Aubree Sweeney, LMFT
Executive Director

Terrance's Journey

10

Donors

Since 1933

For over 90 years Rancho's mission has been to provide strength-based, trauma-informed, culturally relevant therapeutic services to youth and families in order to instill hope, foster resiliency, and create pathways for future successes.

"Rancho opened my mind to think outside the box. It gave me the tools to understand that there's always a reason behind behavior and that healing comes from being open and transparent."

—Rancho Graduate

Programs at a Glance

Short-Term Residential Therapeutic Program (STRTP)

Our trauma-informed STRTPs serve court referred male youth, 13-18, and non-minor dependents. Youth have the opportunity to address the life patterns that led to their placement outside of home. All residents receive specialty mental health services.

Transitional Age Youth Housing (TAY)

Rancho offers 18-23 year old males with housing insecurity the opportunity to live in apartments on the Rancho campus. Participants are encouraged and guided towards financial security and the pursuit of educational goals.

Substance Use Disorder Treatment Program (SUD)

This program offers outpatient and intensive outpatient substance use treatment including prevention and early intervention for youth aged 12-20. SUD follows a life recovery model with best practice principles such as assessment, relapse prevention, trauma-informed treatment, Medication for Addiction Treatment (MAT), and psychoeducation.

Youth Diversion and Development Community-Based Services (YDD)

The Youth Diversion program works with at-risk youth to prevent involvement with the juvenile justice system. Case managers utilize a strength-based case management approach and individual assessments in order to support each youth and connect them with community resources.

Shelter for Unaccompanied Children (ORR)

The ORR program provides licensed shelter, education, and recreational services to unaccompanied males, 13-17. These minors enter the United States without immigration status or parental support.

Creative Healing Arts Intervention (CHA)

Rancho's Creative Healing Arts promotes healing and self-expression through collaboration between staff and youth. The studio serves as a platform for creative expression, skill development, and trauma-informed approaches, allowing youth to "heal and be heard."

The Need

Approximately 30K youth are currently in foster care in LA County.

1,100 youth exit foster care yearly.

40% experience homelessness soon after emancipation.

Opening New Doors

Rancho San Antonio has officially broken ground on the “No Wrong Door” Behavioral Health Youth Outpatient Center, a 5,171 square foot facility, marking a significant milestone in expanding access to outpatient behavioral health services for youth and families. Supported through an investment from the California Department of Health Care Services (DHCS) Behavioral Health Continuum Infrastructure Program (BHCIP) Round 4, the center will provide mental health care, substance use treatment, and prevention and early intervention services in a coordinated, community-based setting.

Built around a “No Wrong Door” approach, the center is designed to ensure that youth can access care at any point of entry and receive timely, connected services tailored to their needs. Construction on the building is estimated to be completed in 2026, with the center opening in Spring 2027.

Rancho ended FY 2024–2025 with a positive change in net assets of $1,796,761, reflecting strong financial stewardship and strategic funding support. A key contributor to this positive outcome was $2,357,606 in government one-time or conditional supports funding, which strengthened overall revenue and helped offset program and operational costs. This additional support enhanced the organization’s ability to maintain high-quality residential, mental health, and community-based services while building financial stability for the future.

Thank you to our affiliates for supporting the care and treatment of those we serve.

The Impact of Your Support: Terrance's Journey

When Terrance Turner arrived at Rancho, he carried the invisible weight of trauma that had shaped much of his young life. His future felt uncertain.

Terrance found consistency at Rancho. Adults showed up for him each day and expected him to do the same. They saw beyond his guarded exterior and continued to hold space for him. Gradually, trust began to grow.

Something shifted for Terrance while he was in the Rancho kitchen. Cooking gave him focus and structure. He found calm in the routine and took pride in learning new skills. The kitchen became a place where his confidence grew.

Terrance's first job was at a local dessert shop. His strong work ethic and reliability quickly earned him a promotion to Assistant Manager. He later secured a position as a chef's assistant at an upscale restaurant, where he thrived in the fast paced environment. Within a year, he was promoted to chef while continuing his work at the dessert shop and supporting the Rancho kitchen.

Today, Terrance is a culinary professional based in Texas, traveling internationally to help open new restaurants. He recently completed training in Tokyo, expanding his knowledge of global culinary techniques and traditions.

Along the way, Terrance rebuilt relationships with his family and strengthened his connection to his community. His journey included self discovery, mentorship, and momentum. Terrance was the recipient of the Legacy of Hope Award at Rancho's inaugural Legacy of Hope Gala. Terrance's story highlights what can happen when a young person is given the space to risk, change, grow.

Pillars of Our 2025–2028 Strategic Plan

Trauma-informed, culturally relevant, and high-quality effective programming

Operational efficiency and effectiveness

Financial stability that supports current and future programming objectives, long-term sustainability, and growth

Maintain and enhance the physical plant to meet current and future programmatic needs

Invest in workforce development, satisfaction, retention, and recruitment to sustain excellence in service provision
